

Kobus Wiese

Biography

Kobus Wiese: From Rugby Legend to Corporate Leader

Welcome Kobus Wiese, a name synonymous with excellence and leadership both on and off the rugby field.

Kobus Wiese, a former South African rugby union player, was a key figure for the national team from 1993 to 1996, renowned for his expertise as a number 2 jumper in the lineout and his relentless drive in every game. His exceptional skills and dedication earned him a distinguished reputation in the world of rugby.

But Kobus's journey didn't stop at the final whistle. Transitioning from the locker room to the boardroom, he has successfully leveraged his sports acumen to make significant strides in the corporate world. Today, Kobus shares his unique journey and insights, blending lessons from professional sports with strategies for business success.

Through his talk, "From Locker Room to Boardroom," Kobus inspires with his experiences, offering invaluable perspectives on teamwork, resilience, and leadership. His story is not just about winning on the field, but also about thriving in the competitive arena of business.

Location Western Cape

Promo Link

